

COHOUSING: PHILADELPHIA

Imagine living in a community that is conceived, designed, developed, and managed collectively...

Join a series of conversations to explore creating a mutually supportive cohousing community in West Philadelphia!

Daybreak Cohousing, Portland

Primary Components:

- Communal living with private dwellings & shared spaces
- Collectively conceived, designed, developed, sustained
- Shared meals, interests, responsibilities
- 12± intergenerational, ethnically diverse households
- Homeownership, affordable mix, apt bldg with a garden

Scheduled Conversations:

Meetings on Zoom:

- Wednesdays | 7:30-8:30pm | Jan 27 • Feb 3, 10, 17, 24
Mar 3, 10, 17, 24

Meetings Outdoors:

- In a garden, safely distanced around a fire pit, limited to 6 people
- Saturdays | 2:30-4pm | March 13, 20, 27
If inclement weather, meet next day on Sunday

Contact:

This is initiated by West Philly resident Hazami Sayed (a trained architect with experience in community arts administration), who is inviting those interested to join in preliminary conversations. Please send an email indicating your interest and which conversations you can attend. You will then receive details with the Zoom link, location of meeting, and an article or video to reference before each meeting.

Hazami Sayed: hazamisayed@gmail.com | 267-303-0070

Optional Questionnaire:

As a way to get us thinking about home and building community, please take time to look around your own house or apartment and consider your views and aspirations about home and community. Click here to complete a questionnaire and bring a sketch and/or photo to share at the meeting.